We will learn more about how we can incorporate music into every day practice and the benefits for our clients/residents.

7:30 - 8:15 pm Palliative Care & Dementia - Raylene MacDonald

Often dementia is not framed as a terminal illness requiring palliative care and there is confusion between palliative versus end of life care. As well, substitute decision makers may have insufficient information. The aim is to identify the need for a palliative approach to dementia care so we can aid families in establishing goals of care and advanced care planning.
